Editor's Comments by Walt Busch, PDC

I am getting really ticked. This is my third "vacation" since Covid. We gave up on two because everything was closed and guess what...THINGS ARE STILL CLOSED! Oh, you can go to Walmart and participate in herd gatherings, you can go to casinos sitting one arm's length to two other people. You and your group can protest that whatever you are against, unless it is in Washington, DC. But try going to the Buffalo Soldier Museum in Sierra Vista, AZ. CLOSED DUE TO COVID! Why? Are we not wearing masks? Only elbow bumping instead of handshaking? Taking temperatures as we walk in to establishments? Are we yurning into a country of germaphobes (ok, I already was one by that is another story)? There is absolutely no reason why any museum, any cemetery, any baseball stadium ought to be closed at this point as long as we continue to practice social distancing.

Unfortunately for those wanting to honor vets at Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery, the director wants to stop all ceremonies that happen on weekends. Why? Well, he told me because he has to have extra workers there to support the events. He doesn't want to pay the overtime. Well, so COVID played into his hands last year and despite the efforts of the Inter-Vets planning committee, he is still using the excuse. Bob Aubuchon, Grant Camp, is on the Inter-Vets committee and advised me that he was told that the head of the VA cancelled the events. However, not all events across the nation are cancelled (so far). When I called Prescott (AZ) National Cemetery on 3/16/2021 (near my vacation spot), they were anticipating having their event.

It is a shame that we are nickel and diming honoring vets, but can spend trillions on pet projects of senators and representatives. Could JB's cancellation have come from above? Maybe, but I doubt it. In 2019 the Grant Camp was told we couldn't hold an event honoring the 56th US Color Troops (at JB) on a weekend. The reason the JB director gave me was money, although JB was advised we would bring our own lawn chairs and police the area. That was his only reason to deny us our ceremony. I then called Camp Butler National Cemetery in Springfield, IL, and spoke to its director. Camp Butler advise we could hold weekend ceremonies there with no problem if the monument was there. Both cemeteries are in the same VA district and according to the Camp

Butler director, each director can set his own rules. Grant Camp decided to hold our event at the Missouri Civil War Museum for the 56th, but we then had to cancel the 2020 event due to COVID restrictions imposed by St. Louis County's Executive.

When dealing with honor our sacred dead, if budgets are such an issue at JB, I can come up with one cost saving idea. Just that one salary cut would probably allow for four or more weekend ceremonies (double overtime) for an entire year.

This is just the beginning of forgetting our veterans. As WWII and Korean War veterans like Bill Groth and Donald Roussin pass away and as our national heroes and emblems are attacked for being politically incorrect, there will be less and less reason for family members to gather remembering our veterans. Let us not forget! When the SUVCW holds events honoring vets, President Lincoln, Generals Grant and Sherman or medal of honor recipients, you need to get involved. After all, isn't your patriotism one of the reasons you joined this organization in the first place?

Fort Bowie, but not Jim Bowie..

Like walking through rattlesnake and coyote (and maybe mountain lion) mountains? Then the 8-mile drive on a gravel road and a 1.5 mile walk on rocky terrain to the interpretive center at Fort Bowie NHS is for you.

The site of the 1861 Bascom Affair (look it up), which led to 10 years of warfare with the Apaches, and the July, 1862, battle of Apache Pass in which Union troops under Brig-Gen. James Carleton were ambushed enroute to confront Confederates in Arizona and New Mexico, was constructed later in July by members of the 5th California Infantry to protect nearby spring. Cochise is buried near here and Geronimo was held prisoner here briefly.

And who was it named after? Colonel George Washington Bowie, commander of the 5th.

WALT VISITS A CIVIL WAR GENERAL

On his travels west, in Powning Veterans Memorial Park, on No Virginia St in Reno, NV, after losing a little at a near by casino, Walt came across this statue of Major General Jesse Lee Reno, veteran of the Mexican and Civil Wars. Reno was fatally shot by a Confederate sharpshooter on 14 Sep 1862 at the Battle of South Mountain. Three days later at the Battle of Antietam, his troops' battle cry was "Remember Reno!" The monument was dedicated in 2005.

General Order #9 Series 2020-2021 2 January 2021

Passing of Union Soldier Widow Helen Jackson

- It is my sad duty to report the death of Helen Viola Jackson, the last documented widow of a Civil War soldier, on 16 December 2020, at the age of 101 years. She had been a resident of Webco Manor Nursing Home in Marshfield, Missouri for many years.
- 2. Helen Jackson married Private James Bolin, Company F, 14th Missouri Cavalry, on 4 September 1936. He was 93 years old; she was 17. Her father had volunteered her to stop by his house each day and assist him with chores as she headed home from school. Bolin did not believe in accepting charity and, after a period of time, asked Helen for her hand in marriage in order to provide for her future by leaving her his Union pension. She accepted and Bolin recorded the wedding in his personal Bible. Bolin died in June 1939 and Helen never remarried; she never applied for the pension.
- The Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War's social media platforms, and the Charters of all Departments and Camps will be draped in black. All Brothers will attach a black mourning ribbon to their membership badges in remembrance of her.
- 4. This order shall remain in effect for 30 days from this date.

The Parlor Art Horseshoe of John W. Butler, U. S. C. T.

By
Douglas Roussin, PCC
Commander Fletcher Camp 47

Parlor art horseshoes that veterans bought and displayed in their homes are rare. Over the years I have been able to locate and purchase a few, both for officers and enlisted men. These horseshoes have the name of the veteran, regiment, company and Grand Army post number. The horseshoe stands just under a foot high. While these horseshoes are rare and hard to locate, finding one for a black soldier is even harder. I have had the horseshoe for John W. Butler for many years and only recently a friend, Cindy Thibodeau, located the enlistment and discharge papers for him. This is what she found.

The 2nd Regiment United States Colored Troops were formed in Arlington, Virginia, at Camp Casey, 1863. Most of the men were from Washington, D. C., Virginia and Maryland and would be commanded by white officers. After the regiment was mustered, it was sent to the Department of the Gulf, December 1863. Their first assignment was to garrison New Orleans. They were later attached to the District of Key West where they participated in a number of raids along the Florida coast from Fort Meyer to Bayport. The regimental loses were 3 officers and 24 enlisted men with another 11 officers and 135 enlisted men dying from disease.

What about John W. Butler? According to his enlistment papers, John was 21 years of age when he joined on August 25, 1863, in Washington. He enlisted for three years. He was 5 feet 6 ½ inches with black complexion and hair. By occupation he was a laborer. He was born in Charles County, Maryland. Under remarks, he had enlisted as a substitute for Perry Ryder.

Due to sickness, John was left in a Washington hospital when the 2nd left for the Department of the Gulf in December 1863. He later rejoined his regiment at Key West, April 3, 1864.

His record indicates he participated in skirmishes at Clay Landing, Florida February 10, 1865 and East Creek and Natural Bridge. He received a slight would in the leg by a bullet in action at Natural Bridge. W. Butler recovered from his wound and returned to service in Key West. He mustered out January 5, 1866. A continuing search of records is now underway to find out more of his military service and what became of John after the war. (A special thanks to Cindy Thibodeau for locating John's muster papers.)

[Editor's Note: John Butler, USCT (so probably the same person), served on the executive committee of the 1908 Old Colored Soldier's Reunion - 2nd Annual Encampment at Pertle Springs - Warrensburg, Missouri. If the post 80 on it refers to a Missouri GAR Post, the post was the Rousseau Post, Ravanna, Mercer County. While there were some separate but equal posts in Missouri, if this is the correct state and post, it is another example of an integrated GAR post in Missouri].

Another Story of The Ancestor of A SUVCW Member: Jacob's Chapter

By Anthony T. Karim Wilhelmi Camp 17

We all have a story. We are rarely the ones who tell it. but always the ones who create it. We often write our own stories without ever knowing, as we consider each day to be just any other day. Perhaps this is what allows us to create for ourselves, the unintentional direction we take in life that guides us through each chapter where with every step a new page is written. Through the pages of history are impressive feats fearlessly conducted in the search of new opportunities. These stories are often created and delivered to the ears of impressed critics. Those who deem a story impossible are often the same people who are not willing to prove it can be done.

In 1857, a 25-year-old German man along with a wave of other European immigrants found the shores of the United States of America. Jacob Gaasch left his hometown and family in the Duchy of Luxembourg. The small Grand Duchy was granted to the German Confederation as a after the defeat of Napoleon in 1815, just seventeen years before Jacob Gaasch was born. It remains unclear what Jacob did in hi s early years, those stories did not cross the Atlantic with him, which is why this story truly starts near St. Louis, Missouri. Although this is where he built a home, Jacob never truly settled there. Less than five years after coming to the country, Jacob enlisted in Curtis's Horse Cavalry. In January, 1862, that unit was absorbed into Company E, 5th Iowa Cavalry to serve the Union Army during the American Civil War.

His military records list Gaasch as a teamster with a regiment that saw combat starting at the siege of Corinth and the battle of Selma and eventually even the Atlanta Campaign. While marching with the 5th Iowa in 1862 near Fort Henry, Tennessee, Gaasch was thrown from a wagon that ran over his legs, breaking both and temporarily putting him out of commission. In January,1864, he finished his three-year obligation to the company. Gaasch decided to re-enlist immediately, only taking a month of veteran's furlough for himself before returning to action in March. During Jacob's second enlistment, the Iowa 5th Calvary was engaged in multiple skirmishes when General Sherman led his march to the sea, using what some would call a fierce 'scorched Earth' policy.

During the Battle for Atlanta in July of 1864 Generals Edward McCook and George Stoneman devised a plan in hopes of destroying Confederate railroads and supplies in a swooping pattern across Georgia that would allow for their forces to regroup back with Union lines. However, Stoneman attempted to liberate Andersonville and Macon prisoner camps to release Union prisoners of war before realigning with McCook. In failing to do either, he left McCook encircled and overrun by Confederate forces that proceeded to take Jacob Gaasch prisoner, along with hundreds of others on July 31st, 1864.

The majority of these Union soldiers were marched to the infamous Andersonville Prisoner of War Camp in southeast Georgia. There, Jacob Gaasch was held captive for months before all able-bodied men were marched to Florence, South Carolina, at the end of 1864. According to his company muster rolls, Gaasch was listed as missing from August until the end of the year. A prisoner of war exchange took place in Charleston, South Carolina, at the end of 1864 where Jacob was presumably handed back over to Union forces as a paroled prisoner of war. A paroled prisoner of war during the Civil War was any soldier who was no longer held captive by their enemy forces, rather, they were held in a noncombat role. Jacob Gaasch saw out the end of the American Civil War in this position. Pursuant to a telegram from the War Department in Nashville, Tennessee, Gaasch was discharged on May 30th, 1865.

With the war's conclusion, Jacob Gaasch found various forms of work until, in April of 1870, he bought ninety-three acres to farm in Moselle, Missouri. On Halloween that same year, Jacob married Alvina Bockenhoff, of Erle, Westphalia, Germany, and the couple proceeded to buy an additional one-hundred and sixty-four acres until 1893, where their farm reached a total area of 257 acres. With their newfound homestead, Jacob and Alvina Gaasch started a respectable farming family.

In 1891, miscommunication concerning Jacob's arrival to the states caused him trouble again as he was denied pensions for his service in the Civil War. His original claims for pension were due to the wagon accident he suffered in 1862. He was denied pension until 1900 when a lawyer filed affidavits supporting the claim that the man who broke both his legs in Tennessee was, in fact, Jacob Gaasch. When his pension was granted, Jacob reported a multitude of injuries, from losing his thumb in a quarry, chronic rheumatism, the injury sustained by the wagon, varicose veins, dyspensia, emphysema, and an unspecified disease of the heart. For all of these ailments, Jacob was awarded a grand total of eight dollars a month. This pension amounted to what would be two-hundred and forty-eight dollars today.

As with every chapter of a story, there comes a conclusion. In April, 1902, as Jacob Gaasch was returning home from seeking out a doctor for a sick family member, his horse was startled by a passing train. The frightened horse threw an elderly Jacob Gaasch against the horn of the saddle, causing such severe injuries that death resulted in the next 24 hours. A German immigrant, a Civil War veteran, a farmer, a father, and an honorable man died at his Moselle home April 26, 1902. Jacob Gaasch was sixty-nine years old. Those of the community spoke highly of the respectable farmer that was their neighbor, so much so, that high river levels did not deter them from holding his funeral. His funeral cortege crossed the river by boats to carry out his burial in St. Mary's Cemetery, Moselle.

While Jacob's chapter ends with his passing, his story continues through me, his great-great-great-great-grandson. I hope to never have to be a war veteran because I understand the sacrifice and hardships endured by men like Jacob Gaasch who fought to preserve the Union. A Union that has allowed me to attend the University of Alabama, wich was previously a Confederate military school that was obliterated by Union forces in 1865. Our freedoms were fought for by the soldiers of the American Civil War. Freedoms such as education, suffrage, and land ownership have become universal in our country since Jacob's chapter. I only hope that my chapter of our story creates a lasting impact on those whose pages come later.

DEPARTMENT TELEGRAPH

Graves Registration Report by PCC Gary Scheel

Last quarter, Brother Glen Alsop of the Wilhelmi Camp entered 198 Graves into the National Database. I entered 11 Graves into the National Database sent in by the St. James Camp. This makes a total of 209 for our Department.

During the Department meeting I was asked how many graves our department has entered into the National Database. To be honest, I cannot answer that question.

There are 21,617 Civil War Veteran graves in Missouri that are entered into the National database. There are people who live outside of the state of Missouri who sometimes have entered graves that are in Missouri into the National Database but they are not members of our Department. The number of cases in which that has happened cannot be found out. But if I was to guess, I would estimate that the majority of those entered are from graves that our members have entered. I know that Brother Glen Alsop generally will send me a number of around 200 graves that he enters each quarter. I really appreciate the work that he does in this area.

I have not heard of any graves from the Arkansas SUVCW Camps which I would love to hear of their efforts.

Patriotic Instructor's Message Dale Crandell, PDC

Our SUVCW Constitution and Regulations defines the Patriotic Instructor duty to "educate and provide Brothers and the general public with information that will help to foster patriotism among the membership and the populace in general." Second quarter has several opportunities for camps and members to foster patriotism in their local communities.

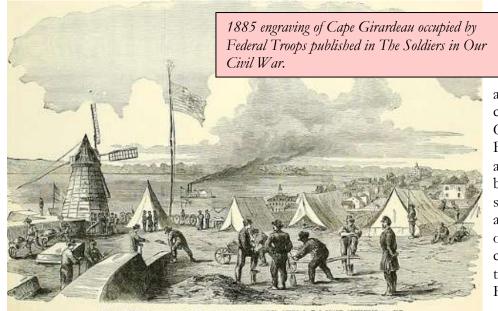

Does your Camp have local Civil War battles and leaders to feature in the Patriotic Instructor's Message, send them to the Department's Patriotic Instructor (patriot@suvcwmo.org).

If you have not already, submit your Camp Patriotic Instructor Annual Report to the Department's Patriotic Instructor (patriot@suvcwmo.org). Battle of Cape Girardeau

The Battle of Cape Girardeau occurred on April 26, 1863 and was the final leg of the Confederate's 2nd Missouri Raid from Northeast Arkansas. General John Marmaduke's 5,000 Confederate soldiers positioned themselves to retake Cape Girardeau from General John McNeil's garrisoned 4,000 Union soldiers. Control of Cape Girardeau and it four recently constructed forts meant control of the Mississippi River supply line.

The Union Army evacuated civilians from the city and positioned gun boats along the Mississippi River, allowing artillery and infantry to concentrate along the city's western edge, anticipating the Confederate's attack. General Shelby Brigade did approach from the west and repealed Union Cavalry attacks, but Shelby's efforts to advances were stopped by the Union's fortified artillery fire lines. Neither side could overtake the other after five hours of combat, leading General Marmaduke to withdraw and end the 2nd Missouri Raid.

Armed Forces Day

Armed Forces Day is Saturday, May 14, 2021. First observed in 1950 following consolidation of the military branches within the U.S. Department of Defense, Armed Forces Day celebrates service members and their families in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Forces, Coast Guard, and the newly created Space Force. Armed Forces Day is the 3rd Saturday in May and concludes a week of activities. Military bases often invite the public to open houses and air shows and local communities sponsor parades and festivals during Armed Forces Week.

Traditional Memorial Day

Traditional Memorial Day is Sunday, May 30, 2021. First observed in 1868 when General John Logan, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic (GAR) issued General Order #11 establishing Decoration Day to honor and mourn the soldiers and sailors who died during the American Civil 1908 Decoration Day Postcard.

War:

Let us, then, at the time appointed gather around their sacred remains and garland the passionless mounds above them with the choicest flowers of spring-time; let us raise above them the dear old flag they saved from dishonor; let us in this solemn presence renew our pledges to aid and assist those whom they have left among us a sacred charge upon a nation's gratitude, the soldier's and sailor's widow and orphan.

Decoration Day expanded to Memorial Day following World War One when veteran gravesites of all wars were honored. Decoration Day and Memorial Day were held on May 30th until the Uniform Monday Holiday Act of 1968 moved Memorial Day to the fourth Monday in May. The SUVCW along with the GAR Allied Orders and veteran groups including the Veterans of

Observed Memorial Day

Memorial Day is Monday, May 31, 2021. This national holiday known originally as Decoration Day commemorated deceased Union soldiers from the Civil War. The holiday was extended after World War I to honor and mourn all veterans who have died in all wars. The modern custom is to place flowers and a U.S. flag at each veteran's gravesite. Traditionally, the U.S. flag is flown at half staff in the morning and raised to full staff at noon. Many communities, veteran groups, and SUVCW camps participate in Memorial Day parades and services scheduled to coincide with raising the national colors at noon.

Army Birthday

Thursday, June 14, 2021 is the 246th birthday of the U.S. Army, oldest of six branches of our Armed Forces. When the American Revolution started there was no standing army, rather local militia units engaged British troops in the separate Colonies. Although there is no official record of the action, John Adams reported that the 2nd Continental Congress adopted the Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Rhode Island militia troops on June 14, 1775 which where blockading British troops at Boston following the Battle of Lexington-Concord and authorized the formation of the 1st Continental Regiment with George Washington as commander-in-chief.

At the outbreak of the American Civil War, the United States Army consisted of 16,000 soldiers, with a third defecting to the Confederate Army. President Lincoln called-up 75,000 militia for three months and Congress authorized recruitment of an additional 500,000 volunteers. As the war escalated, the Union Army grew with an estimated 2 million serving between 1861 and 1865, including 179,000 African Americans and 100,000 unionists from Confederate states.

For more information: http://www.army.mil/Birthday/237

Flag Day

Flag Day is June 14, 2021, which commemorates adoption of the thirteen stars and stripes flag by the 2nd Continental Congress on June 14, 1777. The U.S. Army was also established on that day. The first National Flag Day was established by Woodrow Wilson's Presidential Proclamation in 1908 and by an Act of Congress in 1949.

A 1942 Congressional Joint Resolution consolidated flag etiquette between the Army and Navy to form the foundation for our current public law: Title 4,

United States Code, Chapter 1 The Flag. This United States Flag Code establishes the policy for federal agencies and the national standard for the display and use of our flag.

The United States flag had 33 stars at the start of American Civil War and added a 34th for Kansas in 1861 and 35th in 1863 for West Virginia's succession from Virginia. The Union did not remove any stars when the eleven Confederate States succeeded.

Battle of Boonville

The Battle of Boonville occurred on June 17, 1861 with 1,700 Union infantry and militia under Captain Nathaniel Lyon skirmishing with 1,500 from the pro-secessionist Missouri State Guard commanded by Colonel John Marmaduke. With few casualties, it was a minor military victory for Union forces but provided an important political and strategic accomplishment.

Missouri like other boarder states was divided between supporting the Union or Confederacy. Captain Lyon's forces were pursuing Governor Claiborne Jackson who was positioning Missouri for the Confederacy. After securing the state capitol in Jefferson City, the Union Army reached Governor Jackson and the Missouri State Guard at Boonville. The better trained and organized Union Army ousted the newly formed Missouri State Guard within a few hours. The strategic significance, was pro-secessionist abandoning central Missouri, regrouping in southern Missouri, and setting up the Battle of Wilson Creek that followed three months later.

Commander Hunnewell's Message

The common question that starts most of our conversations lately is: did you have your shot yet? I hope that you are taking your doctor's advice and getting one. As I mentioned in the last issue, meeting together, Fraternity – the banding of brothers with a common cause, is very important for our organization. It is my hope that as things 'get back to normal,' our camp meetings start up again. There are some camps that haven't met in a year's time.

There is a lot of detail in this issue about what we talked about at the Department Meeting earlier this month. Take note! Great news came from Arkansas, where a new Camp is being organized in Little Rock. Brother Joe Rainey is spearheading the effort.

Joan Koechig, President of Missouri's Daughters of Union Veterans 1861-1865, attended our department meeting and brought greetings. As I said when I became Department Commander, we want to continue strengthening the coordination with the Allied Orders. Joan has been an integral liaison with the DUVCW and our National Encampment committee.

Our Department will have its Department Encampment at the Civil War Museum in St. Louis on June 5. The evening of June 4, we will present awards at a local restaurant. Commander-in-Chief Pearson will be attending our encampment, so I would love to see a good turnout. Full details can be found here.

Also, at our department meeting, we discussed our upcoming National Encampment. We have some excellent tours lined up prior to our business meetings. Soon we will have sign-up sheets for tasks during the Encampment. PDC Marty Aubuchon will be handing SVR duties. Contact him if you are interested in helping out in this manner. Note that any other efforts on behalf of the Encampment should be brought to the Chairman, PDC Bob Petrovic, first. This will avoid overlapping efforts.

As a Department, we will need to come together, attend and, help out. In the meantime, you can

- pre-register,
- book your hotel room at the Hilton St. Louis Frontenac,
- register for tours,
- purchase souvenir medals,
- purchase your Saturday morning SVR breakfast tickets, and
- purchase your Saturday night banquet tickets.

Proposed New Property Forms By Walt Busch, PDC

On the following pages are proposed forms that the department is considering for requiring people to use to ensure our integrity when dealing with SUVCW property. As we are now a 501(c)3, we have increased responsibility to deal properly and ethically with people donating items to us. Below are some examples demonstrating why these forms are necessary and why we are asking members to review these forms and offer comments prior to the department encampment in June.

In the early 2000s, the Colonel RB Palmer Camp 73 in Hartville, MO disbanded. All camps are required to turn in all property to the department when they fold. Money, equipment, etc. This is because we are a sub-organization of National SUVCW and as such all property belongs to the national organization. This camp never turned in anything. Charter – Gone! Any camp money? Gone! Additionally, several attempts were made to contact camp members and none have ever responded to requests for information on where the property is. As a retired police criminal law instructor, I can tell you that since letters were sent and the people failed to advise us where the property is, if any of those people have the property, it is theft!

Another example happens when dealing with the public. People may want to donate items to your camp or the department. In the 1990s, the Woman's Relief Corps donated a GAR altar to the department. Grant Camp members took charge of picking it up and caring for it for many years. The original letters transferring the property were forgotten and when they 'loaned' it to the department, it was at the time considered Grant Camp property. It wasn't. The original letter of transfer was found while I was digitizing files and it is again properly listed as owned by the department.

How would you feel if you as a member of the public if you wanted to donate the GAR sword of an important US General and found out later that the item was auctioned on E-Bay? We have a responsibility to those members of the public and to the memory of all Civil War soldiers that we make our intentions clear when we accept property from the public or our own members. If the person donating the sword wants it preserved and used by us in ceremonies, the camp or department needs to consider BEFORE accepting it whether they intend to use it in that manner. When I ran Battle of Pilot Knob State Historic Site some people wanted to donate items but required that they always would be on display. Since I could not guarantee that they always would be and they insisted that that be the case, I had to turn down the artifacts. In 2007, collector Jack Powell gave the department the original GAR articles of incorporation for the department of Missouri GAR and a gavel used by Frank Blair Post No. 1 in St. Louis. The only request he made is that we keep and preserve the items. We had a professional preserve the papers. These and the gavel are occasionally displayed at department meetings. The altar mentioned above is also regularly used. If a camp accepts the above-mentioned sword, the documented restrictions of the donor must be adhered to. Those restrictions should be listed somewhere. That is why an article of gift should be filled out.

Sometimes people may want to loan stuff to a camp or department. This is something that should mostly be discouraged. A loan means you may be making your camp or department responsible for damages. However, sometimes a loan might be worthwhile. If a person gave us the option to display General Grant's GAR sword at the 2021 national encampment, well... So there are times a loan may be worthwhile, but more than one member should be involved in the decision to do that. If they agree to do it as a camp or department then an article of bailment should be filled out. [Note: Camp and Department Councils are largely responsible for the group's monetary concerns. Since loans put us in a position of liability, they should be involved in any decision when accepting a loan].

So, we have proposed forms for gifts and loans. But we also need to keep records of who has what property. For example, Grant Camp has a speakers' bureau. Several members have said they would donate their time to talk to school groups or the public on Civil War topics. To facilitate this, the camp has bought a projector screen and computer projector. Who has these items? Well, it's me. I also have been stuck with past records and awards given to the department because no one else wants to store them. A record needs to state that I have these. What happens when I die and I still have SUVCW property and historic artifacts like a charter? Without documentation these camp items could be distributed to my relatives and even sold on E-Bay. If the family refuses to turn over such property (it does happen), our camps and the department need a way to recover it. If necessary, a writ of replevin to recover property wrongfully taken could be filed. Again, failure to return is a theft. Unfortunately, nowadays, prosecutors consider it more a civil action. Why? As a retired cop, I think most PAs are plain lazy.

So please read the following forms, comment on them to DC Sumner Hunnewell commander@suvcwmo.org or me wbusch@suvcwmo.org. Also, please come to the department encampment and vote on it.

Department of Missouri – Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War Procedures for Acquiring Artifacts and Items

Position: The Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War are pledged to preserve the memory of the boys in blue and the Grand Army of the Republic. To that end, preserving artifacts of the soldiers is part of our sacred duty. The department of Missouri wants to be clear and honest when dealing with people who wish to donate items to the department or any of its camps. Therefore, any gifts of artifacts or other items (such as a lpad, etc.), shall have either an article of bailment or an article of gift completed for it.

General Procedure: Artifacts or items can be taken into camp or department possession in two ways.

- 1) Bailment: This is where a person is loaning the department or camp an item for a period of time (an example of this would be someone presenting an original GAR post flag and allowing us to display it at an encampment) but then wanting it returned. The form Articles of Bailment will be filled out.
- 2) Gift: A person wishes to donate an item to the department or camp. This becomes the property of the camp or department to do with as they wish. An Articles of Gift will be filled out.

Each form will be filled out as completely as possible. If a camera, for example, is being donated to a camp, the brand of camera, model and serial number is the minimum information that should be recorded on a form. If an artifact is being donated, more than one picture of the item (different angles, identifying marks) should be taken and attached with the form.

Special Provision for Articles of Gift. A section of the form indicates the intent of the camp/department for the future use of the item. An individual may want to donate a GAR sword, for example, to a camp and want the camp to possess it so that it is preserved for public enjoyment. The camp, on the other hand, may look at it as something they want to sell on E-Bay and make some money. Therefore, the intent must be filled out so that the donor knows upfront what the camp intends to do with it. Example: The department has taken some GAR records recently to be photographed and documented for our website. Both donors were advised that upon completion of the photographing we would donate the artifacts to a museum or library of consequence. Additionally, especially for gifts, if the donor puts conditions on the gift, those need to be listed on the form. Example: They want it displayed at all meetings with a plaque that says it was donated by them. If those are the restrictions and the camp/department accepts the gift, we must adhere to them.

Forms will be signed by camp commander or department commander depending on who is taking possession of the property. Property taken in by the department may be assigned to a camp's care.

ALL COMPLETED FORMS FOR EITHER CAMP OR DEPARTMENT PROPERTY WILL BE SENT TO THE DEPARTMENT SECRETARY SO THAT PROPER FILES CAN BE MAINTAINED. THE DEPARTMENT SECRETARY WILL PROVIDE A COPY OF THE FORM TO THE QUARTERMASTER FOR ALL PROPERTY OWNED BY THE DEPARTMENT! CAUTIONS:

- 1. We rely on our members to keep many of the items in their houses due to a lack of storage owned by camps/the department. People wanting to donate true artifacts to us should often be encouraged to instead donate them to a museum/library of consequence. By consequence, we mean such as the State Historical Society in Columbia, the Department of Natural Resources Historic Sites and State Museum, Wilson's Creek NHS, US Grant NHS, Missouri Historical Society, etc. Local museums should generally be avoided because many do not have good procedures and security to ensure the preservation of the artifacts.
- 2. Should a camp or department accept an artifact, it is the responsibility of the camp or department to retrieve the item from individuals who leave the organization or pass away.
 This means that if a member passes, you must retrieve the property! If the family refuses to give it to the camp/department, the camp or department is expected to proceed with court action, such as through a lawsuit or through replevin. The department considers it the camp's and department's fiduciary responsibility to retrieve artifacts that are in our possession.
- 3. Accepting a donation of an artifact may well cost a camp or department money not only to recover it above, but to preserve it. It is for that reason that artifacts are often better in the possession of a museum/library.

It would be hoped that some day in the future, the department will possess its own building. That would be great! At that point we would be in a position to obtain, hold, and display artifacts.

Finally, for all property of a camp or department, yearly accountability should be practiced. Any member that

Finally, for all property of a camp or department, yearly accountability should be practiced. Any member that has property of the camp/department should sign a form provided by the department (or similar statement) that acknowledges possession of SUVCW property.

Notes:

- Some members may have property that belongs to a camp and also have other property belonging to the department of Missouri.
 Separate forms should be filled out on both.
- 2. This form should be filled out for all property that a member has that is possessed by him.
- It is recommended that artifacts have pictures taken of them annually and submitted along with the form so that any deterioration may be noted and action, if necessary, be taken.

The department of Missouri recognizes that possession of camp or department property is a responsibility that a member has taken upon himself. We thank the member who has done so and only ask that he takes this responsibility as seriously as possible. You are honoring the boys in blue and the care you provide helps ensure our efforts to preserve artifacts and provide educational opportunities to future generations.

Inspiration at Vicksburg: Poetry Beyond the Forlorn Hope

By Randal A. Burd, Jr., PDC

In the December 31, 2018, edition of the Missouri Unionist you'll find an article remembering the brave actions of Corporal Henry Platt Pearsall and the other volunteers who formed the storming party in Vicksburg, MS, on 22 May 1863 nicknamed "The Forlorn Hope." Among these brave boys in blue, 78 received the Medal of Honor for "gallantry in the charge of the volunteer storming party."

Cpl. Pearsall was buried in Doe Run, Missouri; other Medal of Honor recipients in "The Forlorn Hope" buried in Missouri include: Cpl. Henry Frizzell, Sgt. James Flynn, Sgt. Thomas Higgins, and Pvt. Louis Hunt. The charge of the Forlorn Hope is memorialized in my poem:

The Forlorn Hope - Vicksburg, 1863

Back in Vicksburg, the town was surrounded With a battle line twelve miles long.
U.S. Grant sought to conquer the city,
But the rebel defenses were strong.
An advance storming party was risky;
They could possibly lose every man.
But they must cross a ditch and climb over a wall Just to capture the Stockade Redan.

With extreme disregard for the danger, While exposed to a torrent of lead, The men carried their logs and their ladders and soon painted the path with their dead. The one hundred and fifty brave soldiers, All unmarried and all volunteers, Had advanced at a run while opposing cannon Brought fresh screams to their still-ringing ears.

So from ten in the morning 'til darkness, They would fight the good fight 'til they fell. A majority there didn't make it; The remainder survived living Hell. The survivors were honored as heroes, Received medals almost to a man For extreme gallantry of the storming party At the fight for the Stockade Redan.

In addition to those brave souls memorialized in this poem, there were other Medals of Honor awarded for actions in Vicksburg, Mississippi. Private John Hack of the 4th Ohio Infantry and Corporal Orion Howe of the 55th Illinois Infantry are two examples of those buried in Missouri.

Private Hack's citation reads that he "was one of a party which volunteered and attempted to run the enemy's batteries with a steam tug and 2 barges loaded with subsistence stores." Despite the recognition entailed with receiving the Medal of Honor, Private Hack's fame was short lasting. Corporal Howe, on the other hand, was not only mentioned in newspapers at various times in later life, but his gallantry inspired a poet named George H. Baker to write a poem based on his courageous acts:

The Drummer Boy of the 55th Illinois

While Sherman stood beneath the hot-test fire

That from the lines of Vicksburg gleamed, And burnt shells tumbled in their smoky gyre, And grape shot hiss'd and case shot scream'd, Back from the front there came, Weeping and sorely lame, The merest child, the youngest face, Man ever saw in such a fearful place.

Sifting his tears, he limp'd his chief to meet But when he paused and tottering stood, Around the circles of his little feet, There sprang a pool of bright young blood. Shocked at his doleful face, Sherman cried, "Halt, front face! Who are you? Speak my gallant boy!" "A drummer, sir—Fifty-fifth Illinois."

"Are you not hit?" "That's nothing. Only send Some cartridges. Our men are out And the foe press us." "But my little friend—" "Don't mind me! Do you hear that shot? What if our men be driven Oh for the love of Heaven Send to my colonel, general dear—" "But you—" "Oh I shall easily find the rear."

"I'll see to that," cried Sherman; and a drop Angels might envy dimmed his eye; As the boy toiling towards the hills hard top, Turned 'round; and, with his shrill child's cry Shouted, "Oh don't forget! We'll win the battle yet! But let our soldiers have some more, More cartridges, sir, caliber fifty-four."

Corporal Orion Howe – Co. C, 55th IL Infantry

The story of every war includes young men not quite old enough to enlist who cannot bear to be left out of some of the most defining moments of history. My paternal grandfather forged his birth certificate to serve during the end of World War II at the age of 16. Orion Howe managed to enlist as a drummer boy at the age of 14, as is recounted in the Streator Free Press on 13 May 1909:

"In the fall of 1861, an elderly man presented himself at Camp Douglas to join the Fifty-fifth Illinois Infantry, then in the process of forming. His name was William H. Howe, and he brought with him his two sons, Liston D. and Orion P., one 12 and the other 14 years of age. All were small and slight of form—the boys very young in appearance. All became drummers in that fine regiment—the father, an expert, became chief of the youthful, disorderly, and brave collection of boys, more or less privileged characters, who rattled away at their drums and made life a burden to all within hearing."

Orion P. Howe's citation for bravery at Vicksburg on 19 May 1863 tells a far more flattering story: "A drummer boy, 14 years of age, and severely wounded and exposed to a heavy fire from the enemy, he persistently remained upon the field of battle until he had reported to Gen. W. T. Sherman the necessity of supplying cartridges for the use of troops under command of Colonel Malmborg."

Howe's bravery in this engagement led General Sherman to personally write a letter to Edwin Stanton, Secretary of War. The letter and the act of gallantry are described in an article in the Buffalo Sunday Morning News dated 25 Aug 1912. His wife, a resident of Buffalo, enters the office of district pension agent Col. Charles A. Orr seeking an increase of her husband's $10 per month pension. Her husband is living on a cattle ranch in Arizona, depending on the dry climate for survival due to a bullet wound which damaged his left lung and two additional bullet wounds in his right leg which have left him permanently disabled. The paper quotes the wife's description of his ordeal from "Mulholland's book, Men of the Legion of Honor":

"It was the custom for the drummer boys to stay in the rear in battle and guard the horses and the musical instruments.

At the siege of Vicksburg, he had been left behind and the company had gained a position at the summit of a little knoll. The men were up there blazing away at the Confederate breastworks when suddenly the firing ceased.

"At this time a detachment of boys in gray surrounded the knoll. My husband guessed that the boys' ammunition had been exhausted and filling his army blouse with cartridges until he could just about stumble along, he began to crawl toward the top of the knoll.

"He had to go right through the Confederate line, but he kept on. He was a wiry little fellow and he got through the lines, but one of the gray boys spotted him wiggling through the brush and took a shot at him. The bullet went into his right leg, but he kept right on. Half way up the hill he came upon a skulker. With his revolver he made the fellow help him over barbed wire fences and finally reached the top.

"Here he found that the company had really been penned in and had been without ammunition. Using the cartridges he had brought, they held their position and finally drove the Confederate boys off."

After re-enlisting once, Howe received an appointment as a midshipman to the United States Naval Academy from President Abraham Lincoln (at General Sherman's request). He married and eventually worked as a dentist in Buffalo,

New York. He also lived in Arizona on a cattle ranch for a period of time due to complications from the injuries he suffered in battle. He later settled in Springfield, Missouri, died there on 27 Jan 1930, and is buried in National Cemetery in Springfield.

I had mentioned the renown afforded to this young drummer boy relative to other Medal of Honor recipients and it remains such that toward the end of my research for this article, I learned a Mr. Derrick Lindow had posted on this topic using some of the same sources I discovered and also has a transcript of General Sherman's letter to Secretary of War Edwin Stanton. His blog post on the matter can be found at www.westerntheatercivilwar.com.

CAMP DISPATCHES

US Grant Camp 68

The US Grant Camp has been successful in starting up a new Sons of Veterans Reserve unit. The unit is the 2nd Regiment, Missouri Infantry, Co. A (1861). In the first month that they started up the unit they have been able to muster 32 members, including 4 from other camps. This allows their unit to have the following: 1 captain, one 2nd Lieutenant, one 1st Sergeant, 2 Sergeants, and 4 Corporals. They also have 1 adjutant, one chaplain and one musician among the privates. The SVR is a uniformed branch of the SUVCW; however, as a new unit several members do not yet have their uniforms. Several members plan on dressing out in GAR regalia as veterans of the unit.

Other than that the camp has been planning events for the rest of the year as well as trying to gather up items for the 'goody bags' needed for the 2021 National Encampment. All of this has been conducted via Zoom. The camp plans to hold their first real meeting of the year at a local restaurant in April.

Not a part of the GAR, many Civil War units held their own encampments, reunions, etc., after the war. Some were held with Confederate Veterans. The 75th anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg being the biggest one held.

Westport Camp 64

Westport Camp #64 had a Medal of Honor ceremony for Sergeant Freeman Davis on March 21, 2021. The ceremony was held at Oak Hill Cemetery in Butler, MO. Over 40 people were in attendance.

Sergeant Freeman Davis, Company B, 80th Ohio

Volunteer Infantry. He was awarded the Congressional Medal Of Honor for his bravery at the Battle of Missionary

Ridge, TN, on November 25, 1863. His citation reads: "This soldier, while his regiment was falling back, seeing the 2 color bearers shot down, under a severe fire and at imminent peril recovered both the flags and saved them from capture."

The Freeman Davis biography (as read during the ceremony)

Freeman Davis was a native of Ohio, having been born in Newcomerstown in 1842.

Little is known about Freeman's early years but we do know he was an industrious and dependable young man who willingly, and I dare say eagerly, enlisted during the early months of the Civil War. His quick rise in rank surely speaks to his trustworthiness and determination to succeed in whatever order was issued.

Following the War, 27-year-old Freeman married in 1869. His wife Anna was also born in Ohio and was 23 when they wed. To this union four children were born; three sons, Frederick, Burton, and Raymond. A daughter Jessie Love Davis was surrendered to the Angels at the tender age of ten years old.

We do not know when the Davis' moved to Butler but the 1880 Census has the family living in Mt. Pleasant Township, in Butler. Freeman's occupation is listed as "works in woolen mill". Freeman's wife, Anna, died in 1894 with the cause of death being 'shock following a surgical operation.".

On March 30, 1898, sitting on the porch of his home at 410 Delaware, 56 years old Captain Davis received a letter. Putting on his glasses he began to read:

The President of the United States on behalf of the Congress and a grateful nation is pleased to inform you that you have been awarded the Medal of Honor for your heroic actions at the Battle of Missionary Ridge, Tennessee on November 25, 1863.

An article in the Bates County Record newspaper, dated April 9, 1898, stated that Captain Freeman Davis had received from the War Department the Medal of Honor for gallantry in battle.

The medal was enclosed in a satin lined case, is made of bronze in the shape of a star and the design and workmanship are beautiful. It was accompanied by an autograph letter from Secretary of War Alger, stating it was awarded to Captain Davis by Congress.

Only a few months later, Captain Davis passed away on February 23, 1899. He was laid to rest by his beloved wife Anna and their darling child, Jessie Love.

Mr. Davis' story slipped into obscurity and was forgotten. It is incumbent upon each generation to remember, honor, and pay tribute to the heroes who have gone before us. On this day, we remember, honor, and pay tribute to Captain Freeman Davis.

Thoughts are to have the ceremony sometime in September when two of his great great Grandsons can be there.

On March 24th members of our camp met at Valle Spring Cemetery to clean and replace the grave marker of Private Franz Bruner to its proper place. The grave marker at one time was standing. This tombstone dates back to the time of his death in 1895 which may have been ordered by the G.A.R. Post he was a member of in Ste. Genevieve. It was never placed in the ground correctly or it would have never been able to break off and fall. We first had to clean the tombstone. After we had dug a hole we placed the tombstone in the ground on top of a four inch block that was sitting on a layer of pea gravel.

After finishing the Bruner monument we saw in the Valle Spring cemetery, we discovered our next project. We saw the broken tombstone of Pvt. August Seibert and we went over to check it out. We checked it out and believe it can be glued back together and we are in contact with Brewer Company in Perryville to see how much that would cost. Department Grave Registration Officer Report

While trying to kill some time one day I was walking through Valle Spring Cemetery in Ste. Genevieve looking for some unphotographed tombstones. Brother Scott Reed of the St. James Camp #326, has created a list of Ste. Genevieve Civil War Veterans on Find a Grave with over 441 memorials on it.

While walking looking for tombstones to take photos of, I saw the grave marker of Pvt Franz Bruner lying on the ground. His marker is from 1895 when he died. The dimensions are smaller than the ones issued today. I believe the marker was ordered by the J. Felix

St. James Post #326 of which he was a member.

The reason for this story is, once in a while we should go check on the markers of our Civil War veterans that you know of. You never know what you will find. Private Bruner's must have been down for quite a while because you can see where they had brushed against it with a lawn mower. The last time I saw it the tombstone was still standing but not placed in the ground correctly.

General James McPherson Camp 1

The General McPherson Camp, on March 25th commemorated as Congressional Medal of Honor day, placed a Wreath on the grave of Samuel Johnson.

Of the millions and millions of people who have served out country only 3,507 have received our nation's highest honor. One such man was Samuel Johnson, who on July 27th 1861 joined the 9 Pennsylvania Reserves at the age of 16. This regiment fought in nine battles in the next year. On Sept. 17, Samuel was in the battle of Antietam. This was the bloodiest one day battle of the Civil War. His regiment was at the north end of the 24 acre cornfield where the worst of the fighting was. The 1st Texas Regiment was moving thru the cornfield to attack the U.S. forces. The corn was over the heads of the men. The 1st Texas Regiment kept their alignment by the flags flying above the corn. All the U.S brigades fired a tremendous volley into the one Texas Regiment. That volley killed or wounded all of the color bearers and the flags dropped to the ground. That was when, then 17year-old Samuel Johnson ran out into the corn and picked the flags. Without the flags to align on and rally around the 1st Texas Regiment could not advance. On returning to his lines Samuel suffered a very serious wound. He spent 9 months in a hospital and on his discharge he was awarded the Medal of Honor and promoted to 2nd Lieutenant. We don't know when Samuel moved to Arkansas, however his last occupation was listed as Physician. He died in 1915 and is buried in the little Baker Cemetery, West Fork in Washington County, Arkansas.

The picture on the previous page is of a monument made as part of an eagle scout project in Connellsville, PA, honoring Samuel Johnson as the only Medal of Honor recipient from that town. Belowe is the newspaper coverage of the event. The television media was at the event also.

Doug and Alan traipsed off in January to a Civil War Relic and Gun Show in Dalton, Ga. They celebrate with their exhausted bank accounts with a tasty libation.

Meanwhile, your secretary picked up this ladder badge on ebay. An old Fletcher Camp artifact? No. According to our Dept. website, it is likely for one of these St. Louis Sons of Veterans camps: General John Pope Camp 47, General J. W. Noble Camp 47, or Admiral Porter Camp 47.

When not poking around ebay, Sumner helped out this month with the St. James Camp. They worked on resetting of a tombstone in Ste. Genevieve. It was for Franz Bruner of the 2nd Missouri Artillery.

Evidently, the bank accounts not exhausted or flush with Bidengeld, Doug and Mark make their way to another Civil War show; this time in Southhaven, Mississippi. It being Mark's birthday, much hoop-de-do was made of it. Libations followed with Mexican food, revealing a shocking pattern.

Proposed Isaac Murphy Camp 2

A new camp is forming in Little Rock, AR; the Isaac Murphy Camp #2. Isaac Murphy became nationally famous when in May 6, 1861, at the Arkansas Secession Convention he voted no to succession, and refused to change his vote when pressured to do so. This gave great encouragement to others in the state to resist secession and the Confederacy. This resulted in over 10,000 men from Arkansas joining the United States Army. After the Secession Convention he returned to Huntsville where he stayed despite threats against his life. However, when the United States reentered Arkansas in 1862, he fled with others to General Curtis's Army. He joined General Custis's staff as an aide while his friend, James Johnson, formed the 1st Arkansas Volunteer Infantry. When U.S. forces reentered Little Rock in September of 1863, Isaac Murphy and others formed a new government with Isaac Murphy as Governor.

The first organizational meeting of the new camp was held March 20 at the (General Douglas) MacArthur Museum of Military History. An attempt to start a camp in Little Rock in 2006 was successful, but the effort lasted for about 5 or 6 years. The camp name and number were later taken up again by the McPherson Camp in northwestern Arkansas. The MacArthur Museum is located in the old Little Rock Arsenal Building built in 1840. There were five in attendance with 3 more giving e-mail support for the new camp. Shane Lind Historian at the Museum, was elected temporary Camp Commander and Joe Rainey was elected Secretary/ Treasurer. Steps have been taken to acquire a EIN number, which will be required before the camp can move forward.

1st Missouri Volunteer Infantry SVR

By Dale Crandell, PDC

In the Spring of 1861 national politicians and military officers and local farmers and merchants each had to pick a side in the coming American Civil War. This picking a side brought risk in the border states, especially Missouri. Although Missouri's 1861 Constitutional Convention voted against secession, hoping to sit-out what was viewed as an eastern conflict, pro-secessionist Governor Claiborne Jackson was moving to position Missouri for the Confederacy. The Missouri State Guard was organized as a Missouri secessionist military force. For pro-Union Missourian, underground home guards were forming throughout the state.

From these unsanctioned pro-Union home guards, Congressman Francis Blair, Jr. organized the 1st Missouri Volunteer Infantry Regiment, sworn into federal service by Captain John Schofield on April 22, 1861. They elected Blair their regimental Colonel. This 1st Missouri traveled with Captain Lyon's federal forces to secure the state capitol and central Missouri for the Union, skirmished with the secessionist Missouri State Guard at the Battle of Boonville, and fought for the Union at the Battle of Wilson Creek. After Wilson Creek, the 1st Missouri transferred to Rolla and later Benton Barracks where it was reorganized into the 1st Missouri Light Artillery Regiment for the duration of the war.

Volunteers Wanted

1st Missouri Volunteer Infantry Regiment Sons of Veterans Reserve

The 1st Missouri was organized by Congressman Francis Blair, Jr. from pro-Union home guards to confront pro-secessionist Governor Claiborne Jackson's Missouri State Guard. Sworn into federal service on April 22, 1861, the 1st Missouri served at the Battle of Boonville and Battle of Wilson Creek, and later organized into the 1st Missouri Light Artillery Regiment.

To honor these first Missouri volunteers who were at Missouri's first battle, a state-wide Sons of Veterans Reserve (SVR) unit is being formed. If interested in joining the SVR's 1st Missouri contact Dale Crandell (patriot@suvcwmo.org or derandell@swbell.net) and plan on an organizing Zoom meeting on the Regiment's anniversary, Thursday, April 22, 2021.

DID YOU KNOW...

According to Sons of Veterans Reserve C&R

Any three SVR Units can form a Battalion. 90+ members are required to have a battalion. Would any groups be interested in forming a Missouri Brigade? A St. Louis Brigade? A Central Missouri Brigade? The battalion commander can be a Major and can appoint a chief of staff (Captain) and an adjutant (1st Lieutenant) Sounds interesting...
